> Dear Avner
> I just ended an hours phone conversation with STS regarding the "project".
> The outcome is, that now, that the appeal has been placed with the court in Torino the best would be to wait > until the final ruling of the "cassazione" is at hand. This is in line with the your earlier reasoning and the conclusions we had reached.

> In light of your visit on the 13th I think conditions are too vague to hold meetings or legal briefings as on the legal front the case the point of no return has been reached.
> In addition, it appears that on parlamentary level no members could be identified of whatever political couleur to be interested in "the case" at all and there is no constituency on which to build. In the inertia of the administration the case just runs its course and the outcome an final ruling is anybody`s guess.
